

Molly LewisMath, Science, Physics of Toys, Science Olympiad, Ceramics

Molly has roots in Ohio where she grew up and earned her college degrees, a Bachelor of Arts in geology from Oberlin and a Masters in Education from Xavier. Her quest for adventure led her to teach science in Papua New Guinea for two years and also for two years in New Mexico. She has been teaching math, science, and physics of toys, and Science Olympiad in the sixth grade since the fall of 1994. Molly enjoys spending time with her family as well doing triathlons, snowshoeing, and making pots.