

Susan KolesDirector of Marketing and Communication

For the past 17 years, Susan Koles has served as director of marketing and communication for Rowland Hall. She graduated from the University of Utah with a degree in journalism and has extensive experience in the marketing and advancement professions – having served as director of public information for Snowbird Ski and Summer Resort; director of advertising and public information for public television KUED Channel 7; writer and producer of print materials for various KUTV (NBC affiliate) public service campaigns, most notably the award-winning “Baby Your Baby” project; director of development for the University of Utah’s Pioneer Theatre Company; and freelance graphic designer and marketing consultant. Susan’s work for the school has been awarded a CASE Circle of Excellence Gold Medal and she was recently honored as the University of Utah’s Parry D. Sorenson Distinguished Lecturer for 2008. Susan’s two sons, Asher and Eli, are both Rowland Hall “lifer” graduates.