

Mary Lawlor

Language Arts, Social Studies, Yearbook, Sixth Grade Girls' Basketball Assistant Coach, Cross Country Co-Head Coach

Mary earned her Bachelor's degree in English from the University of Nebraska, attended Oxford University for Medieval and Renaissance studies, and completed a post-baccalaureate licensure program in English language arts at the University of Minnesota. Mary teaches sixth grade language arts and social studies and supervises the yearbook. She is an avid telemark skier, snowboarder, mountain biker, and has two sons. Mary was the recipient of the 2003 and 2005 Middle School Sumner Faculty Award.

Mary has been coaching middle school sports since 1996. She is currently the head coach, along with Joe Edwards, for the Rowland Hall Cross Country Team and the assistant coach for the Rowland Hall Sixth Grade Girl's Basketball Team. Mary has coached many other teams, including the sixth grade boys' basketball team, the boys' soccer team, seventh and eighth grade girls' basketball, and assisted with the high school cross-country program.