

Keely Kelleher, a Rowmark Junior Program coach attended Rowmark Ski Academy from 1999-2003 and then went on to compete with the U.S. Ski Team for eight years. She raced on the World Cup circuit for four of those years racking up World Cup points, medals while skiing around the world. She retired in 2010 after winning the U.S. SG National title. She then went on to disperse her twenty years of ski racing knowledge and passion to kids by coaching in the summer months in Alaska and Mt. Hood. In 2011 she started her own ski camp for girls in Mt. Hood: Empowering Young Women Through Ski Racing. Keely is a tremendous asset to the Rowmark Junior Program and is loved and respected by all.
