

Jeanne Zeigler

Jeanne states that school has always been a big part of her life. She grew up in western Pennsylvania at an all boys' boarding school where her father taught physics for forty-one years. Having two brothers who were educators as well, Jeanne decided to choose another path after attending the University of Pittsburgh. Jeanne worked with handicapped adults for ten years. Looking for a new challenge, she moved west and discovered her true calling...teaching! Jeanne began working at Rowland Hall in 1981 as an aid in kindergarten and overseeing the Extended Care Program. Since completing the teacher certification program at the University of Utah in 1988, she has spent her time happily teaching third grade. Jeanne and her husband Kipp Greene are the proud caretakers of two cats. They enjoy spending time in all kinds of outdoor activities, in particular, hiking the desert in southern Utah.
